

The European Consortium for
Accreditation in Higher Education

WEBINAR “IMPACT OF THE MOVE TO THE ONLINE MODE OF DELIVERY ON THE LEARNING OUTCOMES”

Considering the current situation of the Covid-19 pandemic, ECA wants to promote the dialogue among its members and to share the responses to this situation. For this, ECA is organizing a series of webinars. The first one was focused on the challenges most agencies are facing, like the need to shift to online external QA procedures and the role some agencies are taking to support HEIs in their adaptation to remote virtual learning. This new webinar will focus on the future ahead, providing the participants the opportunity to share their own perspectives and to discuss about the possible long term implications of the current pandemic situation on the quality assurance landscape, including the impact of the move to an online mode of delivery on the study curricula and the achievement of the learning outcomes from the perspective of institutions and quality assurance agencies.

The webinar “IMPACT OF THE MOVE TO THE ONLINE MODE OF DELIVERY ON THE LEARNING OUTCOMES” will take place on Monday 30 November at 15:00 pm (CEST) with the following programme:

14:55 Login by participants

15:00 Opening remarks – Maciej Markowski, ECA chair

15:05 Possible long term impact of the move to the online mode of delivery on the learning outcomes and study curricula. Dr. Robert Wagenaar. Groningen University.

15:30 Achievement of learning outcomes on an online format. What should agencies be aware of? Dr. Leah Matthews, Distance Education Accrediting Commission (DEAC).

15:55 Questions and answers – Open floor

16:15 Conclusions and closing remarks

The European Consortium for
Accreditation in Higher Education

Information:

We want to inform you that the webinar will be recorded and that the video and the presentations will be available for the participants.

Please note that a screenshot or a photo of the screen will be taken during the event and may be used for ECA publications, website and social media. Should you be opposed to your picture being used as described, please contact the ECA secretariat at secretariat@ecahe.eu.

To assure a quality experience to all participants, we kindly ask you to follow these rules during the webinar:

- Keep your microphone muted, unless you are given the floor.
- If you wish to intervene, please use the chat function to send questions or comments. Questions will be reviewed on an ongoing basis and will be addressed during the webinar.